Corporate Sponsorship & Charitable Contributions

APPLICATION

FirstEnergy[®]

FirstEnergy Corporate Contributions to local nonprofit organizations help strengthen the social and economic fabric of our communities. From our local, state and national chambers to nonprofits across our footprint, the company believes that the greater good is better business.

Backed by our vision to invest in transformative causes that enhance the vitality, sustainability and diversity of the communities we serve, we support nonprofit, tax-exempt organizations within the service areas of FirstEnergy operating companies, including Ohio Edison, The Illuminating Company and Toledo Edison in Ohio; Met-Ed, Penelec, Penn Power and West Penn Power in Pennsylvania; Jersey Central Power & Light in New Jersey; Mon Power and Potomac Edison in West Virginia and Maryland; and where we conduct business.

CATEGORIES OF GIVING

Corporate Sponsorship is financial support, product or services provided to a 501(c) nonprofit organization in exchange for a benefit, including meals, tickets, memberships, event participation, marketing rights, etc.

Charitable Contribution refers to a monetary donation given to a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization for charitable or educational purposes. The contribution is not in exchange for a benefit or to promote FirstEnergy's brand. Eligible entities include nonprofit organizations that are public charities and public schools, colleges and universities.

PRIORITIES OF GIVING

FirstEnergy Corporate Sponsorships and Charitable Contributions align with the philanthropic principles of the FirstEnergy Foundation. The giving priorities of the FirstEnergy Foundation are to:

- Improve the quality of life in our communities and support key safety initiatives.
- Empower workforce development and educational initiatives.
- Promote local and regional economic development.
- Support employee leadership and volunteer interests that align with our business interests.

LIMITATIONS

Corporate Sponsorships and Charitable Contributions made by FirstEnergy will not constitute payment for:

- The private benefit of any specific individual.
- Political organizations, political figures or candidates or legislative activities.
- Government and public administration institutions.
- International, foreign affairs or national security organizations.
- Correctional facilities and addictive disorder agencies.
- Animal protection, welfare or veterinary services.
- Loans or second-party giving, such as endowments, debt retirement or foundations.
- Research, equipment or capital purchases.
- Transportation costs or travel expenses.
- Salaries, stipends, consultant fees or personal scholarships.
- Door prizes or raffles.
- Tuition, books, alumni dues, athletics, church subsidies for private schools, or other similar items at such institution or organization.
- Fraternal, religious, labor, athletic or social organizations – unless the contribution is earmarked for an eligible program open to all beneficiaries, including those not affiliated with the host organization.
- Organizations that discriminate based on creed, race, religion, age or sexual orientation.

HOW TO APPLY

An organization that is tax-exempt under section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code or a governmental entity or other organization eligible to receive tax-deductible contributions under section 170(c) of the Internal Revenue Code may apply for a corporate sponsorship or a charitable contribution by submitting the Corporate Sponsorship and Charitable Contributions Application.

FirstEnergy does not accept unsolicited requests. Please reach out to our Community Involvement Team (email: FE_Comm_Involve@firstenergycorp.com) with your inquiries. Priority for corporate contributions is given to organizations that are working with eligible FirstEnergy employee volunteers in their community.

The FirstEnergy Corporate Sponsorship and Charitable Contributions Application can be downloaded and completed electronically. Once you have completed the application, please include the following documentation:

1. Photocopy of IRS 501(c) letter (including description of 509(a) status if applicable)
